To the reader

This book provides messages and codes that may occur while using Information Exchange Administration Services (an interface to Information Exchange, the mailbox component of EDI Services). This book is a reference, useful in understanding and correcting errors that can occur while performing tasks using Information Exchange Administration Services.

Information Exchange provides a means of sending, storing, and retrieving information electronically, and can make it possible for users on dissimilar computer systems to communicate with one another. By establishing a computer-to-computer communication network between different locations, Information Exchange can both speed and simplify the delivery of messages, electronic data interchange (EDI) envelopes, and other data.

Who should read this book

This book is primarily for Information Exchange Service Administrators who are responsible for coordinating the use of Information Exchange in their companies.

If you are general user of Information Exchange Administration Services, you can also use this book.

Informational and error messages

This chapter lists the messages that Information Exchange Administration Services displays.

How to use this chapter

The messages are listed in numeric order. Informational messages and error messages are not differentiated.

Each entry shows you:

- The message number
- The message text
- Why you got the message
- What you should do

Variable notations

Sometimes the message text uses a variable notation to represent an actual name or ID that Information Exchange Administration Services displays.

This variable	Represents
AAAAAAAA	An account ID
AAA	Access point
A or B	A choice of two variables
BBBBBBBB	A value for a preferred X.400 body-part type
CC	A value for an X.400 country code
DDD	A data type
DDDDDDDD	A distribution list
GGGGGGGG	A group ID
HH	A value for the character conversion “Hex” field
HHH	A hex value
HH:MM:SS	A time stamp
J	A value character choice
K	A substitution value
LLLLLLLL	A library name
MMMMM	Modem speed
MMMMMMMM	A library member name
nn	A numeric value
PPPPP	A specific page number
PPPPPPP	A value for an X.400 EDI content type
RRRRRRRR	An archive message group
SSS	A system ID
T	An alias table type
TTT	An alias table name
TTTT	A value for an X.400 translation table
UUUUUUUU	A user ID
XX	A profile type
YY/MM/DD	A date stamp
ZZZ	A time zone

Messages

001 The PA or PF key that you used is not valid for this panel.

Explanation: You cannot use all the PA or PF keys on every panel.

User Response: Look at the definitions of the function keys at the bottom of the panel. Then choose another key.

002 The action that you chose is not valid for this panel.

Explanation: The value you typed is not valid.

User Response: Read the panel again to see the possible actions. Then type the action correctly.

003 The beginning of the display data has been reached.

Explanation: You pressed F7 to scroll backward past the beginning of the list of information.

User Response: Press F8 to scroll forward and continue working with the panel.

004 The end of the display data has been reached.

Explanation: You pressed F8 to scroll forward past the end of the list of information.

User Response: Press F7 to scroll backward and continue working with the panel.

005 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU does not have a profile.

Explanation: You typed an account ID and user ID combination that does not exist.

User Response: If you typed the account ID and user ID combination incorrectly, type the correct one.

If the information you typed is correct, a profile for that user needs to be set up. Contact your Information Exchange support personnel.

007 Account AAAAAAAAA does not have a defined Information Exchange profile.

Explanation: You typed an account ID that does not exist.

User Response: If you typed the account ID incorrectly, type the correct one.

If you typed the correct account ID, a profile for that account needs to be set up. Contact your Information Exchange support personnel.

010 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU is a cluster child ID. The cluster parent ID has been substituted. Press Enter to continue.

Explanation: The user ID you specified is a cluster child ID. You tried to add, change, or get one of the following objects that requires the cluster parent ID to be specified in the “User ID” field:

- Alias tables
- Archived messages and archived-message groups
- Carbon copy relationships

- Information Exchange and X.400 user profiles
- Libraries
- Message arrival event definitions
- Message audits
- Permanent private distribution lists
- Scheduled event definitions
- Trading partner lists
- User groups

The system defaulted to the cluster parent ID.

User Response: Correct the “User ID” field.

011 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU is a cluster user ID and cannot be an alternate administrator.

Explanation: The user ID you specified is either a cluster parent ID or a cluster child ID. Cluster IDs are not allowed to be alternate administrators.

User Response: Correct the alternate administrator “User ID” field.

012 A partner list does not exist for the FROM account and user ID specified.

Explanation: The account ID and user ID combination you specified does not have a list of trading partners for you to copy.

User Response: Check both the account ID and user ID of the list you want to copy. If you typed the wrong user IDs, type them correctly and then press Enter.

If you typed the correct user IDs, you cannot use those user IDs as a source for a list of trading partners. However, a different user might have a list you can use.

014 Trading partner AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU was added to user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU’s list.

Explanation: The specified trading partner entry you set up was saved in the specified user’s list.

User Response: This message confirms the trading partner list entry is saved. No action is required.

015 J is not valid for the “Deliver messages in sequence” field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you require messages to any trading partner to be delivered in the same sequence as they are sent, type y. This decreases your system availability.

If you do not require messages to any trading partner to be delivered in the same sequence as they are sent, type n. This increases your system availability.

016 Items changed to * have been deleted by another user during processing.

Explanation: While you were looking at a list panel, another user deleted some of the items. These items are marked with asterisks in the code field.

User Response: This message confirms that the items marked were deleted. No action is required.

017 The alias specified cannot be resolved into an account and user ID.

Explanation: The alias name you typed does not exist in the alias table you specified.

User Response: Check your spelling. If you made a typing error, correct it and press Enter.

018 The session has been reset for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU.

Explanation: You reset the user's session.

User Response: This message confirms that the user's session was reset. No action is required.

019 The session reset for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU has been canceled.

Explanation: The user's session has not been reset, because you chose not to reset it.

User Response: This message confirms that the user's session has not been reset.

To reset the session, return to the Work with Profiles panel and choose Action 7. If you do not want to reset the session, no further action is required.

020 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU does not have an active session.

Explanation: The user you chose does not have an active Information Exchange session. You do not need to reset the session.

User Response: Because the user does not have a session to be reset, no further action is required.

021 The password has been reset for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU.

Explanation: You reset the user's password.

User Response: This message confirms that the user's password was reset. No further action is required.

022 The password reset for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU has been canceled.

Explanation: The user's password has not been reset, because you chose not to reset it.

User Response: This message confirms that you did not reset the password.

To reset the password, return to the Work with Profiles panel and choose Action 6. If you do not want to reset the password, no further action is required.

023 The current Information Exchange password is not correct for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU.

Explanation: The password you typed next to "Current Information Exchange password" is not the correct password for the user whose account ID and user ID are at the top of the panel.

User Response: If you know the password, you may have made a typing mistake. Type the password again. Extended Security Option (ESO) users can make three consecutive attempts to type their passwords correctly before Information Exchange Administration Services revokes the user IDs.

024 The new Information Exchange password does not meet the requirements for passwords.

Explanation: The password you typed does not follow the ESO rules for Information Exchange passwords.

User Response: Type a password that follows these rules:

- Must not contain the user ID as any part
- Must be at least six characters in length
- Must contain at least three different characters
- Must contain a nonnumeric first and last character
- Must contain at least one non-alphabetic character
- Must contain at least one alphabetic character
- Must contain only the valid characters A-Z, 0-9, and special characters #, @, and $
- Must be different from the current and five previous passwords
- Must not contain more than two identical consecutive characters
- Must not contain more than three identical, consecutive characters from the previous password

025 The new Information Exchange password and the verification password do not match.

Explanation: You did not type the same password next to “New Information Exchange password” and “Verify new Information Exchange password.” You need to type the same password in both fields to verify the new password you chose.

User Response: Type the new password again in both fields. Be careful to type it the same way both times.

026 The group GGGGGGGG does not exist.

Explanation: Information Exchange Administration Services does not recognize the group ID you typed.

User Response: Check the group ID to make certain it is correct. If you made a typing error, correct it and press Enter.

027 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU is already a member of group GGGGGGGG.

Explanation: You are trying to add a user to the group who is already in the group.

User Response: Check the ID of the user you want to add against the IDs of the users who are already members. Add only those users who are not already in the group.

029 The trading partner list exists. The source list will be added to it.

Explanation: Information Exchange recognizes that the user for whom you are copying a list already has a list of trading partners.

The source list, the list that you are copying, will now be copied into the user's existing list of trading partners in alphabetical order. Information Exchange Administration Services checks for duplicates and eliminates any users from the added list who are already on the user's old list.

User Response: This message confirms that Information Exchange Administration Services is ready to copy the list you chose. To copy the list, press F3.

030 Please type an account ID. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: To continue, you must specify the ID of the account that you want to work with.

User Response: Type the account ID and press Enter.

031 Please type a user ID. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: To continue, you must specify the ID of the user for whom you want to take some action.

User Response: Type the user ID and press Enter.

033 Please type the destination account and user ID. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: When copying to a list of trading partners, you must specify the account ID and user ID of the user who will own the resulting list. When sending a message, you must specify the account ID and user ID of the user who will receive the message.

User Response: Type the account ID and user ID of the user who receives the copied list or the message and press Enter.

034 Please type the group ID. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: Before you choose an option, you must first specify the group you want to work with.

User Response: Type the group ID and choose the option. Then press Enter.

035 Account AAAAAAAA does not have any groups.

Explanation: No list of groups exists for this account.

User Response: You must add a group to the list.

036 Profile type changed from XX to 0 due to your modifications.

Explanation: You changed the profile of a user whose profile belonged to a certain profile type. The profile type of that user was changed to 00.

User Response: If you want the user to remain in the old profile type, cancel this by pressing F12. Otherwise, the user's profile will be unique (00).

037 Please type the profile type. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: To continue, you must specify the number of the profile type.

User Response: Type the number of the profile type and press Enter. This number must be between 0 and 10.

038 Please type the alias table name. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: To continue, you must specify the name of the alias table you want to work with.

User Response: Type the name of the alias table and press Enter. The name can be up to 3 characters long.

You cannot access alias tables that are not in your local Information Exchange system.

039 Please type the table type. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: To continue with the panel, you must specify the type of the alias table you want to work with.

User Response: Type the alias table type you want to work with and press Enter.

To work with a global table, type g.

To work with an organizational table, type o.

To work with a private table, type p.

You cannot access alias tables that are not in your local Information Exchange system.

041 Please type the alias name. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: To continue, you must specify the name of the alias you are using.

User Response: Type the name of the alias and press Enter. An alias name can have no more than 16 characters.

043 Another user has changed the profile for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU during this processing. Your changes will not be saved.

Explanation: While you were working, but before you pressed F3 or F4, someone else changed the user profile you were working with.

User Response: To see the current values, select the option to change a user's profile again for the same user. Type your changes and press F3 or F4 to save.

044 Please type the source list name. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: The source is the distribution list that you want to copy. To copy a distribution list, you must specify the name of the list.

User Response: Type the name of the list you want to copy and press Enter.

045 Please type the destination account ID. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: When sending a message, you specified a user ID to receive the message but did not specify the account ID.

User Response: Type the account ID of the receiver of the message.

046 Please type the destination user ID. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: When sending a message, you specified an account ID to receive the message but did not specify the user ID.

User Response: Type the user ID of the receiver of the message.

047 For the destination, type an account and user ID or an alias, but not both.

Explanation: You must choose whether you want to specify the receiver by an account ID and user ID or an alias. You cannot specify both.

User Response: Type either the user's account and user ID, or the user's alias. Do not type both.

048 There are no incoming messages for the search criteria selected.

Explanation: You cannot see a list of messages sent to a user, because the user(s) selected do not have any incoming mail that meets the criteria you typed.

User Response: Change your search criteria and press Enter.

049 There are no outgoing messages for the search criteria selected.

Explanation: You cannot see a list of messages a user sent, because the user has not sent any messages that are still in the receiver's mailbox that meet the criteria you typed.

User Response: Change your search criteria and press Enter.

050 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU is defined as a cluster parent ID. To retrieve an alias table for a cluster ID, specify a cluster child ID as the receiver.

Explanation: When retrieving an alias table, you entered an account ID and user ID defined as a cluster parent ID as the receiver.

User Response: Enter a specific cluster child ID or an account ID and user ID not defined as a cluster ID as the receiver when retrieving an alias table.

051 There are no archived message groups for the search criteria selected.

Explanation: You cannot look at a list of archived message groups, because the user(s) do not have any message groups in the archive that meet the criteria you typed.

User Response: Change your search criteria and press Enter.

052 An audit trail does not exist for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU.

Explanation: An audit trail gives you information about the status of a user's message. However, this user does not have an audit trail, or the audit trail for this user has expired.

User Response: If you want to increase the amount of time the user's audit trail is kept, you must change the user's profile. On the Change a User's Profile panel, in the space next to "Number of audit trail days," type the number of days you want to keep audit trails. This number must be between the minimum and maximum displayed by the system.

053 For the destination, type an account and user ID OR a list name, but not both.

Explanation: You can specify either one user or a group of users on a list to be the receiver. This message means that you must choose one or the other. You cannot use both.

User Response: Type either the account ID and user ID of the user you are specifying as the receiver, or type the name of the list of users. Do not type both.

054 The time zone has been corrected and redisplayed. Press Enter to continue.

Explanation: You have not typed the time zone designation correctly. The system has changed it to a correct time zone closest to what you typed.

User Response: Press Enter to continue if the time zone was changed to the one you want. If the time zone was changed to the wrong time zone, type the one you want and press Enter.

055 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU is defined as a cluster parent ID. To retrieve a distribution list for a cluster ID, specify a cluster child ID as the receiver.

Explanation: When retrieving a distribution list, you typed an account ID and user ID defined as a cluster parent ID as the receiver.

User Response: Type a specific cluster child ID or an account ID and user ID that is not defined as a cluster ID as the receiver when retrieving a distribution list.

056 J is not valid for the table type field. Type G, O or P.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: To continue with the panel, fill in the type of the table.

To work with a global table, type g.

To work with an organizational table, type o.

To work with a private table, type p.

057 J is not valid for the authorization level. Please retype.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type the user's authorization level.

If the user is the service administrator, type 4.

If the user is a general user, type 6.

058 J is not valid for the send side/pay send charges field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to pay send-side charges when sending messages, type y.

If you do not want the user to pay, type n.

059 J is not valid for the send side/pay receive charges field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to pay receive-side charges when sending messages, type y.

If you do not want the user to pay, type n.

060 J is not valid for the send side/block communications field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you do not want the user to be able to send messages, type y.

If you want the user to be able to send messages, type n.

061 J is not valid for the receive side/pay receive charges field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to pay receive-side charges when receiving messages, type y.

If you do not want the user to pay, type n.

062 J is not valid for the receive side/block communications field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you do not want the user to be able to receive messages at all, type y.

If you want the user to be able to receive messages, type n.

063 J is not valid for the receive side/pay send charges field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to pay send-side charges when receiving messages, type y.

If you do not want the user to pay, type n.

064 J is not valid for the 'Change acct dist list/groups' field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to be able to change user groups and account-level distribution lists, type y.

If you do not want the user to be able to change user groups and account-level distribution lists, type n.

065 J is not valid for the change other users' profiles field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to be able to change other users' profiles and trading partner lists, type y.

If you do not want the user to be able to change other users' profiles and trading partner lists, type n.

066 J is not valid for the change user's own profile field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to be able to change his or her own profile, type y.

If you do not want the user to be able to change his or her own profile, type n.

NOTE: If the value in the “Change user’s own profile” field is N, the user will not be permitted to change his or her own profile.

067 J is not valid for the reset session field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to be able to reset the user’s own sessions, type y.

If you do not want the user to be able to reset the user’s own sessions, type n.

068 J is not valid for the change alias field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to be able to set up and change global and organizational alias tables, type y.

If you do not want the user to be able to set up and change global and organizational alias tables, type n.

069 J is not valid for the extended security user field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to have stricter security measures (as an ESO user), type y.

If you do not want the user to have stricter security measures, type n.

070 If you type an administrator’s user ID, you must type an account ID.

Explanation: You typed a user ID without typing the account ID.

User Response: Type the account ID also.

071 J is not valid for the immediate delivery field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only y or n.

If you want the user to get express priority messages, type y.

If you do not want the user to get express priority messages, type n.

074 J is not valid for the profile type field. Type a number between 0 and nn.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type the number of the profile type. This number must be between 0 and nn.

075 J is not valid for the number of days field. Type a number between nn and nn.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: To specify the number of days that you want to store messages in the archive, type a number between the minimum and the maximum displayed by the system.

076 J is not a valid number of audit trail days. Type a number between nn and nn.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: To specify the number of days you want to keep audit trail information, type a number between the minimum and maximum displayed by the system.

077 If you type Y for paying charges, you must type N for block communication.

Explanation: The values you typed in these two fields are contradictory. You cannot type y in both fields.

Typing y to pay for sending or receiving means that the user will pay charges for exchanging mail. Typing y to block communication means that the user can only exchange mail with other users specifically stated.

User Response: Type over your entry in one of the fields.

If you want the user to be able to communicate, type n in one or both of the “Block communication” fields.

If you do not want the user to be able to communicate, type n in the charge fields.

078 As a sender, if you pay for receiving, you must pay for sending.

Explanation: You typed y for the receive-side charges and n for the send-side charges.

User Response: If you type y for the receive side, you must type y for the send side.

079 Type the new password again in the verify new Information Exchange password field.

Explanation: To change the password, you must type the new password in this field as well.

User Response: Type the new password exactly as you typed it in the “New Information Exchange password” field.

080 J is not a valid choice. Type Y or N.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type either y or n.

081 J is not a valid choice. Type A, C, or D.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type the code for the appropriate action.

To add, type a.

To change, type c.

To delete, type d.

082 J is not a valid choice. Type A or D.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type the code for the appropriate action.

To add, type a.

To delete, type d.

083 J is not a valid choice. Type C, D, or I.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type the code for the appropriate action.

To work with a group or change its members, type c.

To delete a group, type d.

To see a list of intersecting groups, type i.

084 J is not a valid choice. Type D, H, S, or V.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type the code for the appropriate action.

To delete a message, type d.

To see the common data header for the message, type h.

To see information about a message, type s.

To read a message, type v.

085 J is not a valid choice. Type D, H, or V.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type the code for the appropriate action.

To delete the message, type d.

To see the common data header for the message, type h.

To read the message, type v.

086 J is not a valid choice. Type I or leave the field blank.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: In the space to the left of each group, you can type only i, or leave the space blank.

To add the group to the intersection of groups, type i.

If you do not want to add the group, leave the space next to the group blank.

088 J is not a valid choice. Type D, R, or S.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Type the code for the appropriate action.

To delete a message group, type d.

To retrieve a message group into the user's mailbox, type r.

To see a list of the messages in a group, type s.

089 J is not a valid choice. Type S or leave the field blank.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only s in this field.

To see additional information about a message, type s.

091 The delivery class specified is not valid. Type I, P or leave it blank.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: You can type only i or p or you can leave the field blank.

Explanation: The maximum number of members that Information Exchange Administration Services can process for a single search is 1000.

User Response: Change the search criteria and press Enter.

483 The search criteria contains a syntax error.

Explanation: The search criteria you specified in your own search string on the Search Library Members panel contains a syntax error.

User Response: Review the keywords and logical operators, and then correct the syntax.

484 You may not type nn in digits nn through nn of a telephone number. Please retype.

Explanation: Directory information, emergency, and toll-free telephone numbers are invalid. You cannot use these types of telephone numbers in either the “Primary or Alternate ISO country code / number” fields.

User Response: Type a telephone number that does not contain the specified values as the first three or four digits in the positions indicated.

485 If you type 0 for the ‘Dialing retries’ field, you cannot type a value greater than 0 for the ‘retry interval’ field.

Explanation: You typed a value of 0 for the “Dialing retries” field and a value greater than 0 for the “retry interval” field.

User Response: Type a value greater than 0 in the “Dialing retries” field or blank out the “retry interval” field.

486 The telephone number must have a least nn digits.

Explanation: You typed a telephone number that contains less than the minimum number of digits.

User Response: Retype the telephone number, using the correct number of digits. You need not specify a long distance prefix, but you must type an area code.

This may vary on Information Exchange systems outside the United States.

487 Another user has deleted library LLLLLLLL in account AAAAAAAA during this processing.

Explanation: While you were working, but before you pressed F3 or Enter, someone else deleted the library.

User Response: User Response: Press F12 to cancel and process another library if necessary.

490 For an action of List, you must type a value in the 'Cycle' field if you type a value in the 'Day of the month' or 'Day(s) of the week' field.

Explanation: You typed a value in the "Day of the month" or "Day(s) of the week" field and left the "Cycle" field blank when choosing the action to 'List scheduled event definitions'.

User Response: When choosing the action to 'List scheduled event definitions', you must type a valid value in the "Cycle" field if you type a value in the "Day of the month" or "Day(s) of the week" field to limit the list.

491 Please type an ISO country code. Then press Enter.

Explanation: You typed a telephone number in one or both of the "number" fields, but did not enter an ISO country code.

User Response: Type the correct ISO country code associated with the telephone number you entered. To select an ISO country code from a list, type? in the "Primary ISO country code" or in the "Alternate ISO country code" field.

548 You must select an ISO country code if you press F3.

Explanation: You pressed F3 before selecting an ISO country code from the list.

User Response: Type s next to the ISO country code you want to use and press Enter.

551 Mail cannot be exchanged with the trading partner(s) highlighted due to payment level(s) in the direction(s) indicated and/or ESO restrictions.

Explanation: This message confirms that mail cannot be exchanged with one or more trading partners.

Information Exchange Administration Services highlights the trading partners’ names and the problems. If just the send-side payment levels are highlighted, then the owner of the account can receive mail from the partner but cannot send to the partner. Likewise, if just the receive-side payment levels are highlighted, then the owner of the list can send to the partner but cannot receive from the partner.

If the “ESO Ind” is highlighted, the owner of the list is an ESO user and the partner is not. This will cause the mail not to flow when sending to the partner.

This message is displayed only once after entering the trading partner information.

User Response: If you intend for this conflict to occur, no action is required. If you do not change the payment level or ESO information, this message is not displayed again.

If you did not intend for this conflict to occur, change the payment level or ESO information. If you change the information and a conflict still exists, Information Exchange Administration Services redisplay the message.

552 J is not valid for the “Date to start” field. Please retype.

Explanation: The date you typed in the “Date to start” field is not in the required format or is outside the allowable ten-year range.

User Response: Type a valid start date in the required format indicated on the panel. The date must be within the allowable range. Then, press Enter.

557 The starting group is not valid. Please retype.

Explanation: The group you chose to begin the list is beyond the end of the list.

User Response: Type a group that is before the last group in the list.

558 The starting position entered is beyond the end of the list. Please retype.

Explanation: You typed a value to begin a list that is beyond the end of the list.

User Response: Type a starting value that is before the last item in the list.

559 Trading partner SSS.AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU has been changed in user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU's list.

Explanation: You changed the specified trading partner list entry. The new version replaces the existing one.

User Response: This message confirms the changes to the trading partner list entry were saved. No action is required.

742 Mail cannot be exchanged with this trading partner due to payment level(s) in the direction(s) indicated and/or ESO restrictions.

Explanation: This message confirms that mail cannot be exchanged with the current trading partner.

Information Exchange Administration Services highlights the problem(s). If just the “As sender” payment levels are highlighted, then the owner of the trading partner list entry can receive mail from the partner but cannot send to the partner. Likewise, if just the “As receiver” payment levels are highlighted, then the owner can send to the partner but cannot receive from the partner.

If the “Require partner to be ESO” is highlighted, the owner of the trading partner list entry is an ESO user and the partner is not. This will cause the mail not to flow when sending to the partner.

The message displays only once after you enter the trading partner list entry information.

User Response: If you intend for this conflict to occur, no action is required.

If you do not change the payment level or ESO information, this message is not displayed again. If you did not intend for this conflict to occur, change the payment level or ESO information. If you change the information and a conflict still exists, Information Exchange Administration Services redisplay the message.

958 The trading partner attributes for the X.400 user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU have been deleted.

Explanation: You typed y and pressed Enter, F3, or F4 to complete the task.

User Response: This message confirms that the trading partner attributes were deleted. No further action is required.

959 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU does not have the authority to delete trading partner attributes for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU.

Explanation: You do not have authority to delete trading partner attributes for the specified user.

User Response: Contact your service administrator to delete the trading partner attributes for you.

960 Please type an X.400 account and user ID or an alias. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: On the Work with X.400 Trading Partner Attributes panel, you did not type an X.400 account ID and X.400 user ID (or an alias that corresponds to an X.400 account ID) and chose to add, change, or delete X.400 trading partner attributes.

User Response: Type an X.400 account ID and X.400 user ID, or an alias, then press Enter.

961 Type an X.400 account and user ID or an alias, but not both.

Explanation: You typed values in one or both of the “X.400 account ID” and “X.400 user ID” fields as well as the “Alias” field on the Work with X.400 Trading Partner Attributes panel and chose to add, change, or delete X.400 trading partner attributes.

User Response: Enter only an X.400 account ID and X.400 user ID, or an alias that corresponds to an X.400 account ID and X.400 user ID.

962 Account AAAAAAAAA does not have an assigned country code. The account must have one in order to perform X.400 functions.

Explanation: You chose to list, add, change, or delete X.400 trading partner attributes on the Work with X.400 Trading Partner Attributes panel and the account in the “Account ID” field does not have a country code assigned to it. You cannot perform any of these functions unless the account has a country code assigned to it.

User Response: Use the Assign a Country Code to an Account panel to assign a country code to the account.

963 Account AAAAAAAAA does not have an assigned country code and you do not have the authority to assign one.

Explanation: You may not perform X.400 functions for an account that does not have a country code assigned to it and you do not have the authority to assign one.

User Response: Contact your service administrator for assistance.

964 When only a starting user ID is entered, an exact match must exist.

Explanation: You typed a user ID at which to start a list, but the user ID does not exist in the list.

User Response: If you type a user ID at which to start a list, ensure you type a user ID that exists in the list.

965 J is not a valid choice. Type B, C or D.

Explanation: You can only type b, c, or d in this field.

User Response: Type the code for the appropriate action.

To browse the message arrival event definition, type b.

To change the message arrival event definition, type c.

To delete the message arrival event definition, type d.

967 BBBBBBBB is not valid for the Preferred body part type field when the Content type is P2. IA5 is the only valid value.

Explanation: When adding or changing X.400 trading partner attributes, you typed a value other than ia5 for the Preferred body part type when the Content type entered is p2. The value ia5 is automatically entered in the “Preferred body part type:” field.

User Response: No action is required.

969 The Hex and Character values do not represent the same value. Please erase one and press Enter.

Explanation: You typed a value in both the “Hex” and “Character” fields for one of the conversion characters on the Add or Change X.400 Trading Partners’ Attributes panel and the values do not represent the same value.

User Response: Erase the incorrect value, then press Enter.

970 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU already has defined trading partner attributes for this user.

Explanation: You chose to add attributes, but the specified user already has X.400 trading partner attributes defined.

User Response: Choose the Change X.400 Trading Partner Attributes for the user selected, or select another user and choose the “Add X.400 Trading Partner Attributes” option.

971 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU does not have access to the X.400 account profile for account AAAAAAAAA.

Explanation: You chose the Assign a Country Code to an Account option and specified an account for which you are not authorized. You cannot assign or change the country code for this account.

User Response: Contact your service administrator for assistance.

972 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU does not have defined trading partner attributes for this user.

Explanation: You chose to change or delete X.400 trading partner attributes but there are no trading partner attributes defined for the user selected.

User Response: Correct the information if you incorrectly typed the X.400 account ID and/or X.400 user ID. Otherwise, you can add X.400 trading partner attributes for the user.

973 Please type an X.400 account ID. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: You chose to add, change, or delete X.400 trading partner attributes but did not specify an X.400 account ID.

User Response: Enter the X.400 account ID of the user with which you want to work.

974 Please type an X.400 user ID. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: You chose to add, change, or delete X.400 trading partner attributes but did not specify an X.400 user ID.

User Response: Type the X.400 user ID of the user with which you want to work.

975 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU does not have the authority to work with X.400 trading partner attributes for user AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU.

Explanation: You chose to list, add, change, or delete X.400 trading partner attributes for an X.400 account ID and X.400 user ID, other than your own, and you are not authorized to work with the specified ID.

User Response: Correct the information if you incorrectly typed the X.400 account ID and/or X.400 user ID. Or, ask your service administrator for assistance.

976 User AAAAAAAAA.UUUUUUUU does not have any defined X.400 trading partner attributes.

Explanation: You chose to list X.400 trading partner attributes, but the specified user does not have X.400 trading partner attributes defined.

User Response: Correct the information if you incorrectly typed the X.400 account ID and/or X.400 user ID. Otherwise, no further action is required.

977 Archiving is a billable function and the charges are based on the number of archive days.

Explanation: You have requested to archive an original message. Archiving is a billable function.

User Response: This is a warning message; no action is required.

978 If you type Y to pay any charges as a carbon copy partner, you must type N for block communications as a sender and a receiver.

Explanation: You typed y for one or both of the “As carbon copy partner” payment levels and typed y to “Block communication” as a sender and as a receiver.

User Response: If you wish to block communications as a sender and as a receiver, type n in both payment levels for “As carbon copy partner”. If you wish to pay charges as a carbon copy partner, you must type n in at least one of the “Block communication” fields.

979 The partner cannot pay the carbon copy receive charge for messages generated because of this relationship.

Explanation: You typed p in the “Who pays for receiving?” field. The partner cannot pay the receive charge for a non-VANs intersystem recipient.

User Response: Remove the P and type one of the following in the “Who pays for receiving?” field:

If the requester pays the carbon copy receive charge, type o.

If the recipient pays the carbon copy receive charge, type r.

981 When forced archiving is N, archiving will occur only if requested in the RECEIVE command. Archiving is billable based on the number of archive days.

Explanation: You entered a non-zero value in the “Archive days” field but left the “Forced archiving” field set to N. The system will not automatically archive every message in this case, but will archive only those messages for which the “Archive” field is set to Y by the RECEIVE message command. When archiving occurs, you are billed for archive charges based on the number of archive days.

User Response: Indicate the way you want received mail to be handled as follows:

To have received mail always stored in the archive, type y in the “Forced archiving” field.

To have received mail archived only as requested by the RECEIVE command, type n in the “Forced archiving” field.

983 Only the recipient can pay the carbon copy receive charge for messages generated because of this relationship.

Explanation: You did not type r in the “Who pays for receiving?” field. Global billing is in effect and the billing table entry for the recipient’s system ID specifies SPLIT or RECEIVER PAYS ALL.

User Response: Type r for recipient in the “Who pays for receiving?” field.

984 This user does not have a defined X.400 profile.

Explanation: The specified user on the Work with X.400 Trading Partner Attributes panel does not have an X.400 profile.

User Response: Correct the information if you incorrectly typed the X.400 account ID and/or X.400 user ID. Otherwise, no further action is required.

985 Only the requester can pay the carbon copy receive charge for messages generated because of this relationship.

Explanation: You did not type o in the “Who pays for receiving?” field. Global billing is in effect and the billing table entry for the recipient’s system ID specifies sender pays all the charges.

User Response: Type o for requester in the “Who pays for receiving?” field.

988 A partner that is not on the same system as the requester cannot pay the carbon copy processing charge.

Explanation: You have requested that the partner pay the carbon copy processing charge. A partner who is not on the same system as the requester cannot pay this charge.

User Response: Type p for partner, or r for recipient in the “Who pays for processing?” field.

989 K is not valid for the Content type field. Type P2 or P35 and press Enter.

Explanation: While you were adding or changing an X.400 trading partner attribute, you blanked out an entry in a “Content type” field.

User Response: Type p2 or p35 in the “Content type” field.

990 The requester must pay the carbon copy receive charge for an intersystem VANs recipient.

Explanation: You did not type o in the “Who pays for receiving?” field and the recipient is an intersystem VANs recipient.

User Response: Type o in the “Who pays for receiving?” field.

992 The highlighted entry is a duplicate.

Explanation: The highlighted entry is a duplicate of another entry on the screen.

User Response: Erase the highlighted entry. Duplicates are not allowed.

994 J is not valid for the input field. Type Y or leave it blank.

Explanation: When adding, copying, or browsing an X.400 user profile, you typed a character other than y in the field to work with X.400 trading partner attributes.

User Response: You can only type y or leave the field blank.

If you want to work with X.400 trading partner attributes, type y.

If you do not want to work with X.400 trading partner attributes, leave the field blank.

Response codes

This chapter lists and explains the response codes that Information Exchange returns when starting or ending a session. Refer to the Information Exchange Interface Programming Guide for more information about the response codes and their relationships to program interfaces.

Session Start response codes

When you start each session, Information Exchange returns a response code. Information Exchange assigns each condition a value of 0, 1, 2, 4, 8, 16, 32, 64, 128, 256, 512, 1024, 2048, 4096, or 8192. If the value is less than 64, the session started; otherwise, it did not.

If more than one condition exists, Information Exchange represents all the conditions as the sum of the values of the individual conditions. For example, 21 represents the sum of $16 + 4 + 1$. This shows that the conditions indicated by values 16, 4, and 1 exist.

Sessions that start

The following list provides the response codes and their meaning for sessions that start.

This code:	Means
00000	Normal condition; no error exists. Information Exchange started the session as you requested.
00001	In a session using checkpoint-level recovery, the checkpoint numbers for the send-side and receive-side of the session do not match Information Exchange's values.
00002	The system is restarting the session. There was an earlier session, and it is being restarted
00004	The value for the time zone is invalid. Information Exchange substitutes a value for the time zone and starts the session.

This code:	Means
00008	The value for the maximum messages between commit or pace requests is invalid. Information Exchange substitutes a value of 10 and starts the session.
00016	The value for the maximum message size is invalid. Information Exchange substitutes a value of 256 and starts the session.
00032	Either the test reset value is invalid, or you registered as a test-mode user. Information Exchange ignores the request to reset the session and the queued messages and starts the session

Sessions that do not start

The following list provides the response codes and their meanings for sessions that do not start.

This code:	Means
00064	If you are an ESO user, you specified a new password that did not meet the following rules. A password: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Must not contain the user ID as any part • Must be at least six characters in length • Must contain at least three different characters • Must contain a nonnumeric first and last character • Must contain at least one non-alphabetic character • Must contain at least one alphabetic character • Must contain only the valid characters A-Z, 0-9, and special characters #, @, and $ • Must be different from the current and five previous passwords • Must not contain more than two identical consecutive characters • Must not contain more than three identical, consecutive characters from the previous password Change the new password to conform to these rules.
00128	The receive checkpoint number is invalid.
00256	The send checkpoint number is invalid.
00512	The restart recovery level differs from the original recovery level.
01024	The restart recovery level is invalid.

This code:	Means
02048	The password is incorrect. The password for this Information Exchange user is not the same as specified in the Session Start command.
04096	The user ID is not valid. Information Exchange does not recognize the address.
08192	If you are an ESO user, you have sent three successive Session Start commands using an incorrect password. Your Information Exchange user ID has been revoked. Contact your Service Administrator to request that your password be reset using Information Exchange Administration Services. Resetting the password resumes the user ID.
16384	If you are an ESO user, you did not specify a new password on the Session Start command. A new password must be specified. Change the password and ensure that it confirms to the rules described for the Session Start response code value of 64

Session End response codes

When you end each session, Information Exchange returns a response code. Information Exchange assigns each condition a value of 0, 1, 2, 4, 8, 16, or 32. If the value is 0, the session ended normally. Otherwise, it did not.

If more than one condition exists, Information Exchange represents all the conditions as the sum of the values of the individual conditions. For example, 21 represents the sum of $16 + 4 + 1$. This shows that the conditions indicated by values 16, 4, and 1 exist.

Sessions that end normally

The reason code 00000 indicates that no error exists. Information Exchange ended the session normally.

Sessions that do not end normally

The following list provides the response codes and their meanings for sessions that do not end normally.

This code:	Means
00001	You have requested an abnormal end to the session.
00002	Session was waiting a Commit or Pace response. Information Exchange is sending messages to your system, and has sent a Commit or Pace request, but Information Exchange received the Session End command before the Commit or Pace response.
00004	One or more Receive Messages commands had not ended when Information Exchange received the Session End command.
00008	An incomplete group of messages or uncommitted messages was sent to Information Exchange.
00016	Wrong access key. The Session End command did not contain the access key assigned to the session when it was started.
00032	Wrong access key. The Session End command did not contain the access key assigned to the session when it was started.

Access points error messages

This appendix lists the Information Exchange Administration Services messages associated with access points.

How to use this appendix

The messages are listed in numeric order. Informational messages and error messages are not differentiated.

- Each entry shows you:
- The message number
- The message text
- Why you got the message
- What you should do

Access points messages

377 J is not valid for the “Default access point” field. Type Y or N.

Explanation: Only y or n is valid in the “Default access point” field.

User Response: You can only type y or n.

If you want to use the system default for the access point, type y.

If you want to type a different access point, type n.

381 If you type Y in the “Default access point” field, you cannot type an access point.

Explanation: You requested to use the default access point and also typed a value in the “access point” field. You cannot use both.

User Response: Do one of the following:

Type y to use the default access point and leave the “If N, type access pt” field blank.

Type n in the “Default access point” field, and then type an access point in the “If N, type access pt” field.

392 Please type an access point. Then, press Enter.

Explanation: You typed n in the “Default access point” field. To continue, you must specify a valid access point from the list of access points for your system.

User Response: Type an access point and press Enter, or type a question mark (?) to get the list of valid access points for your system.

422 The starting access point is not valid. Please retype.

Explanation: The access point entered to begin the list is beyond the end of the list.

User Response: Type a beginning access point that has access points after it in the list.

428 AAA is not a valid access point. Please retype.

Explanation: The value you typed in this field is not valid.

User Response: Verify the access point you want and retype.

514 You cannot select more than one access point. Please select one and press F3.

Explanation: You tried to select more than one access point. This is not allowed.

User Response: Select one and only one access point, and press F3.

518 The access point is invalid. The event has been canceled.

Explanation: The access point you tried to use for this event was invalid. The event cannot occur.

User Response: Verify the access point you want and retype.

537 The system ID associated with the access point listed in the user's profile is invalid. The event has been canceled.

Explanation: The system ID you tried to use with the access point you selected is invalid.

User Response: Verify the system ID and the access point and retype.

550 You must select one access point. Please select one and press F3.

Explanation: You did not use the default access point and have not selected one to use.

User Response: Do one of the following:

Use the default access point, or

Type an access point, or

Select an access point from the Select an Access Point panel.

613 There are no access points currently defined.

Explanation: You typed an access point that does not exist for this local Information Exchange system.

User Response: Do one of the following:

Select one of the valid access points from the Select an Access Point panel.

Type a valid access point in the "If N, type access pt" field.
